naxalites ideologically oppose the establishment of SEZs, mining projects and proposed steel plants by private agencies as well as Government on the ground that they cause displacement of tribals from their homelands and result in loss of agricultural land of poor farmers. The CPI(Maoist) and its front organizations have been propagating to build up a sustained movement of the people at an all India level to oppose development agenda of the Central and State Governments.

Government views naxal menace as an area of serious concern; therefore, this issue is being addressed both on security, development fronts and public perception management fronts. The measures include deployment of 33 Battalions of CPMFs; sanction of 29 India Reserve Battalions; Modernization of State Police Forces, strengthening of intelligence mechanism etc. on security front. On the development front financial assistance of about Rs. 1680 crores has been provided to the naxal affected States under the Backward District Initiative (BDI) component of the Rashtriya Shram Vikas Yojana (RSVY). Similar development assistance is also available to naxal affected States under the Scheme of Backward Regions Grant Fund (BRGF).
